jailor Jones became aware of the plot heretofore. minutes work would have finished the fell on the track and one or requisition, and the defective bars were their heavy bereavement. n discovered. The plot being checked, the parties engaged in it being known, as well as the proposed manner of exit, Mr. Jones desired to get possession of the tools with which the work was for him to "buck and gag" several of his prisoners. He finally discovered the penknife-saw in the cell of Cole. (of r notoriety) who with Marks, (of the Grafton express robbery) were the ringleaders of the attempt. A large slung shot was found on Shaffer, a sort of half witted fellow. They had been at of half witted fellow. They had been at work sawing two afternoons, and were bent on making a bold strike for their freedom. They designed, if they once succeeded in getting into the front part of the jall, to knock down the guard or ilor, and then escape into the street.-The whole party are now confined to their cells, where they will be kept un-til the damage done to the gate is re-

It is very fortunate that this affair was discovered, or we would have had loose in our community as hard a set of rascals as ever went at large. It will take smarter men even than those who were engaged in this affair to get ahead

CIRCUIT COURT—Judge Caldwell presiding.—Circuit court met Saturday morning at 90'clock. Isaac Hoge was admitted to the practice of law in the circuit court of Ohio county, on taking the oath of allegiance to the United States and to the State of West Virginia. In the case of Joseph Britt, Jr., ve. Isaac Cotts, a suit for an account of the plaintiff against defendant for rebuilding the old ferry house at the foot of Union street, a verdict was given for the plaintiff in the sum of $34672. A new trial in this case was subsequently granted.

In the case of Valentine Geise vs. Adam Dodson, a verdict was given for the plaintiff for the sum of $1,284 30. In this case the plaintiff sues defendant for a carpenter's bill for building a house. A defence was made upon the ground that the work was not done for defendant, but for another man for whom defendant was acting as agent. A motion was made for a new trial by defendant, which was continued for argument un-til another day.

In the case of Henry Moore, vs. Acheson & Bell, the case was continued until to-day after partial argument. The substance of this case, as we under stand it, is about as follows: In 1862 Mr. Moore leased his interest in the Belmont mills to the other stock owners at a certain per cent on the earnings. On his income he was, of course, required to pay a revenue tax, which reduced his receipts considerably below the sum expected, and he now sues to recover the amount of the revenue tax

The case of Patrick Moran rs. John Maginan, for assault and battery, was continued until to-morrow. The plain-tiff in this suit, purchased from defendant, (who is a butcher,) a lot of beef | cheerfully attended to. which was subsequently weighed and found to be a pound short of the weight at which it was sold. The plaintiff thereupon entered suit before one of our
